

Kids watching too much TV is bad. I think TV is bad for kids because if they watch too much it will effect their health. My second reason why I think parents should be strict about television is because then kids don't get enough sleep, if it's a school day and you go to school and you didn't get enough sleep you could fall asleep in class. Another reason why I think watching too much TV is bad is because some people can actually get addicted to TV.

Why I think TV is bad is because you could damage your eyes either permanently or not, but you could damage your eyes. I think theres research that says when you sit too close to the TV or look at it too long it will hurt your eyes. If your eyes are damaged it could effect your whole life and everything you do.

If you fall asleep in class because you watch too much TV then you might not finish school, college, and might not get a job and probably can't pay your bills. If you can't pay your bills, there could be bad consequences.

Then, if they're addicted to TV their minds will just stay on that topic. If they watch violent TV and their minds are fixed on that subject, it is really dangerous. Also if you're so addicted to TV you could gain weight because of sitting around all day and not being active.

So a little TV is not bad and sometimes it is funny or even educational. Kids can watch too much so parents should be really careful about letting their child watch too much.

Organization/Purpose – 4

- Clear maintained opinion with several different supporting ideas throughout “fall asleep in class, damage your eyes, not finish school, get addicted”.
- Effective introduction and conclusion
- Consistent use of transitions “My second reason, another reason, also, another idea...).

Evidence/Elaboration – 3

- Some precise language (damage, health, addicted, consequences) and some general language (bad, school, shows)
- Style is evident (bad consequences for not paying bills)
- Some elaboration of reasons

Conventions – 2

- Few errors – spelling